

Coyote/Koshari Suite 4 (4 images) #3/4

Date

1981

Primary Maker

Harry Fonseca

Medium

Color lithograph

Description

Four Koshari holding paddles or dance rattles stand across the lithograph. They are dressed with loincloths and painted in the traditional black and white stripes. Their striped caps are horned with tassels. In all of the images in this suite the coyote heads are facing left or right, while the bodies face forward, yet both eyes are visible. - Judith Kendall, I.S.A., AM
